

INTA 2025 Annual Meeting

February 27, 2025 | EVENTS

Intellectual Property is often the most valuable asset of any organization – whether it is a global company or a local start-up. Just as anyone needs to protect their physical assets, one must also protect their intellectual assets, including patents, trademarks, copyrights, trade secrets, data, and other forms of intellectual property.

At Lippes Mathias, we protect, preserve, and enhance intellectual property assets in a creative, cost-effective, and transparent manner to help our clients increase the value of their businesses. Our IP team, which consists of more than 30 highly skilled attorneys, offers a full range of intellectual property services from trademark and patent prosecution to transactions involving intellectual property and intellectual property litigation.

Our IP attorneys serve various industries including food and beverage, consumer products, biomedical and life sciences, e-commerce and retail, healthcare, and technology. They have highly skilled technical backgrounds, including advanced degrees across a wide variety of disciplines, and are admitted throughout the country. The team's attorneys and agents include former USPTO examiners and fluent speakers of non-English languages, including Mandarin and Portuguese.

A representative group of attorneys from the team is heading to San Diego for the upcoming International Trademark Association Annual Meeting taking place from May 17 to May 21, 2025. To learn more about our attendees and schedule a meeting with them during the conference, please use their contact information below.
